REPORT NO. 25X1A

1. In April, Prince Te convened a meeting of approximately forty representatives of all Mongol leagues and banners in the Northwest, at Tingyuanying in Alagshan Banner.
2. The main results of this meeting were the formation of the "Preparatory Committee of the Inner Mongolian Autonomous Government" and the appointment of a delegation to the Nationalist Government for the purpose of getting its approval of the plan for Mongol autonomy. Prince Te felt that the latter negotiations were of a nature so delicate that he dared not trust them to anyone but himself. Consequently, he refused to become chairman of the Preparatory Committee, since that post would have made it impossible for him to go to Canton.
3. The officers and members of the "Preparatory Committee of the Inner Mongolian Autonomous Government" are as follows:

Chairman: Altanwachir (Prince A), of the Hanggin (Ordos Right Flank Rear) Banner of Yehejo League.

Vice Chairman: Prince Te.

Prince Lin (Rinchin-senge), head of Ulanhab League.

Bayanhan (PA Wen-chun 巴文俊), of Tumet (Kueihua Tumet or Tumet Special) Banner, Suiyuan Province; chief secretary of the Mongolian Political Committee in Suiyuan Province.

Damirinwanchog (TA Hsiao-yuh)*.

Chief Secretary: HO Jui-wu, also known as HO Chao-lin* (Nason-buhe).

Standing Committee Members: Dugurensang (PAI Hai-feng)*.

JUNG Hsiang (榮祥), chief of Tumet (Kueihua Tumet or Tumet Special) Banner, Suiyuan Province.

5. The operational funds to defray the expenses of the Preparatory Committee were to be obtained from the various leagues and banners. Its office was to be at Sanshengkung, near Tingyuaning, on the north bank of the Yellow River. It was estimated that it would take three months to get the Preparatory Committee organized, after which a preparatory meeting would be held, and an autonomous government established. It was probable that the seat of this government would be at the Ulangan-Tologai Temple in Ulanab League.
6. MA Hung-kuei, who expressed himself as in accord with the plan for establishing an autonomous Mongol government, sent CHOU (周), secretary of the (Ninghsia) Provincial Kuomintang Office to attend the conference of Mongol leaders**.
7. MA Fu-fang's approval of the plan was evidenced by the welcome he gave to Giljintai when the latter was sent by Prince Te to contact MA.
8. HU Tsung-nan, whom Prince Te interviewed in Sian, promised to aid the plan in every way possible.
9. TUNG Ch'i-wu, chairman of the Suiyuan Provincial Government, is opposed to the plan for a Mongol autonomous government, but has not openly expressed his objections, since he has insufficient troops to oppose the 5,000 Mongol troops who are in his territory.
